

ABSTRACT

Methods and apparatus are presented which converts a DC voltage into both a regulated boost voltage and a regulated inverter by means of switch-capacitors with feedback. Methods and 5 apparatus may be fabricated as an integrated circuit, and/or may be fabricated with one and/or multiple communication line transceivers on a single silicon substrate.